An Innovative Leadership Approach Focused on Business Value

It's not enough to train your leaders in project management skills; they must also know how to lead others through change, closing the gap between strategy and execution.

The IMPACT Driver Leadership workshop will equip your Project, Program, and Portfolio Leaders with the skills to manage and lead complex change initiatives that align with Universal's strategic goals. It includes the vital mindset shifts necessary to go beyond the tools and techniques to the business and leadership competencies that are necessary to close the gap between strategy and execution in a way that drives a higher focus on achieving intended business outcomes, not just project deliverables.

By mastering these frameworks, leaders will be prepared to lead change with more presence, purpose, and better business results, resulting in increased ROI and long-term success for the company.

Guiding Your Journey

Shifts We'll Teach to Support Your Company's Growth

➤ INSTILL FOCUS

We understand that our job is to solve business problems, not project problems. We create an environment and team that is dedicated to leveraging the best of project management to meet the needs of the business, understanding that emphasis is on the business solution and the outcome we are helping the organization achieve.

➤ MEASURE OUTCOMES

There are even better ways to define project success than the triple constraint (time, scope, cost) and Earned Value Management (EVM). We will develop metrics and mechanisms for ensuring we are achieving the business goals - the OUTCOMES INTENDED for each project, not just the outputs.

➤ PERFORM RELENTLESSLY

There's a lot more to project management than waterfall methodology, or any other implementation methodology, and we will focus on finding the best way to implement each project, all projects across the portfolio, and ensure that we will not fall victim to methodology wars to the detriment of achieving successful project outcomes.

➤ ADAPT TO THRIVE

People are not resistant to change, they are resistant to having change done to them. We learn new ways to bring people with us through the change process so that we can create the necessary alignment to accelerate business change.

➤ COMMUNICATE WITH PURPOSE

Our job is to facilitate effective and transparent communication, removing overhead and administration for project communication so that stakeholders have the information they need to make educated and informed decisions in a timely manner. We will educate, inform, and help build project management understanding and capability across the organization.

➤ TRANSFORM MINDSET

The PMO and project management (regardless of methodology) is the key to helping an organization deliver on its strategy. We will embrace our role as Strategy Navigator™ for the organization so that we can accelerate the return on investment for every project.
